

Joint PhD Degree Programme

Heidelberg University - Tohoku University

The Joint PhD Programme at Heidelberg University, Germany, and Tohoku University, Japan, provides:

- Double-degree awarded on the basis of the written thesis (usually in the English language) and a joint oral examination by both universities
- Joint PhD Supervision (History, Politics, Society, Law and Economics of Japan and East Asia)
- Excellent research environment at Germany's oldest and Japan's third oldest university
- Interdisciplinary exchange at the Cluster of Excellence "Asia and Europe in a Global Context" with 100 doctoral students from all over the world
- Scholarships covering the one-year stay at Tohoku University in the Second Year of the PhD
- No tuition fees at Heidelberg University

First Year & Third Year:

Heidelberg University, Germany

Second Year:

One-year course at Tohoku University, Japan

Images: Wikimedia Commons

<http://www.asia-europe.uni-heidelberg.de>

Application deadline 15 March 2013

TOHOKU
UNIVERSITY

Graduate School of Law, Tohoku University

ASIA AND EUROPE
IN A GLOBAL CONTEXT

UNIVERSITÄT
HEIDELBERG
Zukunft. Seit 1386.